Quietude

dusky
descendants
of quixotic
mutineers

perform
practiced perfected
polynesian dance

erotic

on soft Tahitian sand

my hands
drip with dregs
of spilt exotic
citrus

sundried
by lustrous lagoon
insidious
hypnotic tune
and rhythm
consume

dancers,
semiclad,
gyrate,

waves lap...

shrill
shriek

shatters

P.J. Murphy Poetry

Celeste

If I
could but induce Zeus
to rearrange
the heavens...

I'd have the
night sky dappled
with your eyes

And
the dawn adorned
with your smile.
